[22/01/18][17:03:22] -

Title: To Winmere

Author: Lord Memnock

The Sillyhood is honored to be able to present you with these gifts in appreciation for all that you've done, both for the City of Paxlair, and for the Chesapeake Roleplaying community as a whole. → Each of these gifts symbolizes something.
Firstly is The Moonstone from the land of our birth, though it was not called Felucca when we all took our first steps there... it
symbolizes The Beginning of our time in Britannia.
Secondly is the Valentine Card from our beloved Silly Brother, Sinjin. This
symbolizes the Beginning Of Paxlair, as Sinjin was the Sillyhood's guildmaster during the founding of Paxlair and is the one who placed our Guildhouse there when the town was new. Thirdly is The Runebook, crafted by my own hand and filled with runes to special and nostalgic locations around Felucca. It symbolizes
The Journey, as we moved through Britannia over the years, showing how, by our very presence, the land grew and was changed for the better. Fourthly is The Sash, crafted lovingly by the Sillyhood and blessed as your presence has blessed us all over the years. It symbolizes

The Community and is a testament and a tribute to your ability to draw in folks from all walks of life and create a fellowship of friends from all corners of Britannia.
And lastly, The Ship. A gift from our friend Counselor Rmageddon
before he departed and sailed into the West. This last item has a twofold meaning. On the one hand, it reminds us of our wonderfull Volunteer program and the lengths you went to in supporting those programs... your work with Counselor Rmageddon and Seer Daemeon... your dedication to Paxlair and other groups. You are a pillar of the Roleplay community and your absence around town will be felt keenly.
But mostly, the Ship symbolizes that all good things must come to an end, but in that end, there is Hope... hope that it is not The End, but merely the next step on The Journey. Perhaps one day, we will meet again with all those that have left... somewhere in a far green country... and the adventure will begin once again. Thank you Winmere
-The Sillyhood